14:30 – 16.00 2024 NAEE ANNUAL ROUNDTABLE

ECONOMIC GROWTH, RISING ENERGY NEEDS, AND ENVIRONMENTAL SUSTAINABILITY: THE IMPERATIVE FOR GOOD GOVERNANCE IN THE ENERGY SECTOR IN NIGERIA

SYNOPSIS: Good governance fundamentally implies doing things correctly to maximize desired results with minimal wastes and doing things the right ways to reach desired results. The Petroleum Commission, the Petroleum Authority, and the Nigeria Electricity Regulatory Institutions are critical institutions vested with power to enforce good governance in the energy sector in Nigeria. Of course, the Ministers of power and petroleum are the ultimate institutions to organize the desired governance policies with operational efficacy in mind. In an overall sense, balancing effectively the energy needs, economic growth and sustainable development is critically dependent on the efficacy of these institutions. What therefore are the appropriate regulatory and policy strategies for balancing the national energy needs and desired economic growth with environmental sustainability?
